ED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of species in Paper No. 11 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 80, 88 and 89 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102() as being anticipated by Iida (USPN 6,000,788)

Iida et al discloses:

- An ink jet recording head having nozzle orifices from which ink drops are ejected (Column 4: line 40-45);

- An ink storage unit for storing ink to be supplied to the recording head (fig.5: element 4);
- An ink flow passage communicating the ink storage unit and the recording head (Fig.5, see below);
- A valve unit for opening/closing the ink flow passage (Fig.5: element 21,20);
- a valve control chamber, a flexible diaphragm (element 3), which constitute a bottom wall of the valve control chamber;
- an actuation body (element 21) for deforming a center portion of the diaphragm (3) so as to close only the exit port (Fig.6);
- the actuation body closes the exit port when a negative pressure is applied to the valve control chamber (Fig.6A)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 88 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Usui et al. (USPN 6,000,788) in view of Wu et al. (USPN 5,851,004)).

Usui fails to teach the actuation is a rod.

Wu teaches the actuation is a rod ((Fig.1: element 7,74,75).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have an actuation is a rod as taught by Wu. The motivation of doing so is to deform the diaphragm.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1, 4, 5, 33/5, 33/1, 34-41, 66, 69, 70 and 72-74 are allowed.
- The primary reason for the allowance of claims 1, 4, 33/1, 34-41 and 66-68 is the inclusion of the limitation of an ink jet recording apparatus and a method comprising the air valve always closes the air hole while the suction pump decompresses the internal space of the capping unit. It is limitation found in each claims, as it is claimed in the combination, that has not been found, taught, or suggested by the prior art of record which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.
 - The primary reason for the allowance of claims 5, and 33/5 is the inclusion of the limitation of an ink jet recording apparatus comprising the valve unit opens the ink flow passage after a first predetermined time period elapses since the starting of the decompressing by the suction pump. It is limitation found in each claims, as it is claimed in the combination, that has not been found, taught, or suggested by the prior art of record which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.

- The primary reason for the allowance of claims 69, 70 and 72 is the inclusion of a cleaning method for an ink jet recording head comprising the step of holding the decompressed stated for a first predetermined time period and opening the ink flow passage by the valve unit after the first predetermined period has elapsed. It is limitation found in each claims, as it is claimed in the combination, that has not been found, taught, or suggested by the prior art of record which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.

5. Claims 81-87 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 81-87 are allowable over prior art of record because at least prior art have not been found to anticipate or teach the combination of the entrance port is on a top wall of the valve control chamber at a portion away from the center of the diaphragm and the exit port is on the top wall at right above the center portion of the diaphragm.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 80 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
